SITE HISTORY ELEMENTS

- 1 The Ilada Waste Company Site is located in a rural area in southwestern St. Clair County, approximately one mile south of Dupon, Illinois at 1143 M Station Road. The site consists of a three acre parcel of land situated on a wooded hillside.
- 2 The area surrounding the site is characterized by two distinct geologic settings. The western half lies in the Mississippi River flood plain. The flood plain consists of about 100 to 200 feet of alluvial deposits. These overlook bedrock of the Lower Mississippian System composed predominantly of limestone with interbedded layers of shale. To the east of the site the land rises to form a ridge with elevations of 100 to 200 feet above the flood plain. It is highly weathered and exhibits distinct karst characteristics. Between 30 and 70 feet of clayey loess deposits over bedrock of the Middle and Upper Mississippian Systems. This bedrock consists predominantly of limestone with interbedded layers of shale and sandstone.
- 3 Population in the area is predominantly rural and agricultural. Private groundwater wells are used to supply drinking water to rural residents near the Site. Most area residents are served by municipal drinking water supplies obtained from the Mississippi River.
- 4 Crude oil has been produced on-site since 1939. During oil production, a mixture of crude oil and brine was pumped from two on-site wells into one of a number of gunbarrel tanks. The oil and brine were separated in the gunbarrel tanks. The oil was sold locally as fuel oil, the brine was stored in one of five brine lagoons or in several storage tanks. Waste brine was disposed of into a 3,000 foot deep injection well. Waste oil was accepted on-site from approximately 1979 to 1982 and stored in above ground storage tanks. Some unprocessed waste oil was sold locally for use in road dust control. The remainder was either disposed of in the brine injection well or processed onsite, blended with crude oil and sold for fuel. The waste oil was processed in an on-site still by heating to separate water and sludge from the oil The separated water was disposed of in the injection well, the sludge was either disposed of in the injection wells or sold for road dust control

There is a high potential for groundwater contamination due to past activities at this site Polychlorinated bi-phenyl (PCB) contamination has been identified in water from pits and soils on the site Soils in this area have relatively low permeabilities, but their thickness is not great The weathered condition of the soils and bedrock increases the potential for groundwater contamination

- 5 The Preliminary Assessment/Site Inspection phase of the project is essentially complete In the 1980s and 1990s, the U S EPA and Illinois EPA issued reports relating to the preliminary assessment and inspection of the site
- 6 This Information Request is being sent so that U S EPA may identify PRPs (i.e. current or former owners, operators, generators, and/or transporters) associated with the Site that may perform the Remedial Investigation/Feasibility Study portion of the project
